Revised Ordinances of Honolulu (ROH) § 8-10.12

1. Filing deadline is September 30 preceding the tax year for which the exemption is claimed. If allowed, the exemption will take effect on July 1 of the tax year.
2. ROH § 8-10.12 (a) and (b):
 - (a) The value of all improvements affixed to land (not including a building or its structural components, except where renewable energy improvements are incorporated into the building, and then only that part of the building necessary to such improvement) and actually used for a renewable energy improvement is exempt from real property taxes, as provided in this section, if a timely claim for exemption is allowed by the director.
 - (b) The portions of land actually used for the active production or storage of renewable energy shall be exempt from 80 percent of its value from the measure of the taxes imposed by this chapter; provided that:
 - (1) A state-approved special use permit or county-approved conditional use permit allowing for such production is required if the production of renewable energy is inconsistent with or not permitted by the underlying zoning; and
 - (2) The production or storage of renewable energy must be primarily for use, distribution, or sale to public utilities or for public consumption under a power purchase agreement or power purchase contract with the utility.As used in this subsection, "portions of land actually used" means the land area in physical contact with renewable energy structures.
3. Restriction:
 - a. Please refer to ROH § 8-10.12 (d) for definition of "renewable energy improvement".
 - b. The exemption does not apply to any portion of land or improvements used primarily for the production or storage of renewable energy for personal use, or used to sustain private enterprises or operations.
 - c. No improvement exemption may be claimed for devices that convert solar radiation to electricity or heat because these devices are excluded from the definition of "property" or "real property" and are not assessed.
 - d. The director may cancel the exemption if the renewable energy improvement ceases operations that generate or store renewable energy, and when the production or storage of renewable energy on the land ceases or terminates. Scheduled equipment maintenance and forced shut downs due to unforeseen circumstances beyond the control of the claimant will be considered.
 - e. The land portions granted in this exemption may not be subject to other real property tax exemption in this article or dedication program in Article 7.
